Thus has faded and passed away from these cold, moral shores, in its very bud time, a sweet and lovely flower. The parents are bereaved of a fond affection and a cherished hope by the departure of this infant blossom; but it is gone, not lost—laded here to bloom in perpetual beauty and richer fragrance, in a more congenial clime—in shrighter and better world. There he shall suffer no more—basking forever in the glorious perfections of Hearen and unfolding his celestial loveliness inthe ineffable light of a blissful immortality.

The Militia Nuisance.

To the Editor of The Tribune : The writer of this is one of those unfortunate individals who are annually cited to appear before a Court Martial to show cause, &c. why he should not be fined tre dollars for the refreshment of said Court. In pursumee of this little request, I found myself ushered into s andles and along table, was scated in the centre the Bills in circulation less than five dollars... andies and a long table, was seated in the centre the fresident, whose name I believe is Col. Tape, a gentlemain the millinery line; on his right was seated a chap they called Major; and on his right was seated a chap fourthead as Judge Advocate, whose duties were consect to calling and recording the names of the "delinguant." I must not forget the individual who adorned belef of the President. Tregret I know not his name; what deposited to the President of the President, whose name I believe is Col. Tape, a gentleman in the millinery line; on his right was seated a chap they called Major; and on his right one John B. Scoles fourshed as Judge Advocate, whose duties were consected to calling and recording the names of the "delingmans." I must not forget the individual who adorned beleft of the President. I regret I know not his name; shad, however, a very exalted opinion of the dignity of Court Martials, as was clear from his borrowing a coat (rather soiled) from some member of the Light Sand, and mounting a pair of faise mustachios—these appurenances." gave him a very military look, and bough at present but an ensign, there is no doubt, if he lies, he will in time reach the pinnacle acquired by Col. lipe. Such was the Court. Of course every man suspected of having a V in his pocket had to suffer some—listery much the fashion for the opponents of the Mita System to excuse these Court Martial gentry and at gatherers, on the plea that they but "carry out the law," &c. This is all humbug. Were it not for the rificulous vanity of these man milliners and valiant tulors, we should not suffer one-third the annoyance we now form it; and for one I hold these fellows responsible for all the trouble. Will there never come a time when this thing must be brought to an end? Have we now member of the Legislautre, with sufficient brains to win for himself "popularity" by aboilshing the nuisance? Where are the petitions soready in cases of not a tithe of the importance of this, and why is it, year after year, by are suffered thus to abuse our patience and rob us four daily bread.

A Carrentes. The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves.' We the People make law-makers, and they laws, and those laws we ought to obey antil we elect Legislators who will change them. Our correspondent's abuse of the individuals comprising the Court Martial is grossly unjust. [Ed]

This Institution offers many important advantages, both difference to Life Insurance, and in its system of Annual-es, immediate and deferred. with respect to Life Insurance, and in its system of Annul-ties, immediate and deferred. Insurance may be effected by persons on their own lives or the lives of others, for the whole term of life or for limit-di periods; and the Society being formed on the Mutaal and loint Stock principle, parties are enabled, as above shown, o participate in the profits of the Society, while their poli-les are guaranteed not only by the constant accumulation of premiums, but by a capital of two and a half millions of lollers.

of premiums, but by a capital of two and a hair minous of obliars.

The premiums may be paid yearly, balf yearly, or quarterly; and parties insuring for the whole term of life are allowed to berrow two thirds of all premiums paid after the first year. (See table)

(37 Insurance is effected and losses settled under the direction of the Local Board of Directors at New-York to whom also authority is delegated for investing the Society's fands in this country.

Pamphlets containing Tables of Rates, i.e. and all necessary information, may be obtained on application at the Society's Office, 74 Wall-st.
